Dear FCC:

The reason me and my husband have chosen Tracfone is because the rates were so low. If we could afford a higher rate don't you think we would go with the well known companies. If the rate is raised and I and many other customers cannot afford to refuel our tracfones because of money problems lets hope that none of us never get stranded and need to call for help or get in a car accident with our children and have no way of getting medical attention to our injured children. Think about that before you raise the rates.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,
